FOCUS

A Message from the President

President Dr. Valmadge Towner

Life presents each of you with many challenges and opportunities. One of those challenges is selecting the right college for you to attend. With so many educational choices, I want each of you to know by selecting Coahoma Community College, you have made the right choice to help you focus on your educational academic needs.

Our faculty is committed to teaching. They are focused on making students successful using the most effective tools in the classroom and in the community around us. We also have an extraordinary alumni group who are active, dedicated, and frequently join us on campus. We are very fortunate that so many alumni live in the Mississippi Delta, but many often travel significant distances for special events. We look forward to you becoming alumni.

At Coahoma Community College we focus on you, our students. Our greatest accomplishment is helping you achieve your educational goals. Whether you aspire to complete an associate degree or vocational training, CCC provides a foundation upon which you can focus and advance yourself academically, professionally, and personally.

We are "Focusing on You at Coahoma Community College!" At Coahoma, you are a student, future leader, and an important part of our community.

You have joined a college that is student-focused and seeks to engage you in a quality learning experience.

Best regards,

Valmadge Towner

Kick Off Spring Fest 2015

CCC hosted the two-time Grammy and 2015 Grammy Hall of Fame inductee, Fisk Jubilee Singers, during a free concert sponsored by CCC's Lyceum Committee. The 16-member group, who travel worldwide, received a standing ovation at the end of their performance that included traditional spirituals such as "Steal Away to Jesus", "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and "Old Time Religion."

Paul T. Kwami, musical director of the Fisk Jubilee Singers tells President Valmadge Towner and Lyceum Coordinator, Yvonne Stanford that the performance would hold a special place in his heart. "I have been many places for many, many years," said Kwami, who became the first African to lead the Singers in 1994. "But this performance is very, very special to me because this my first time coming to this state...I want to thank you all for coming and making this evening special."

About the Honors College Program:

The Honors College program is a highly selective program consisting of additional coursework and community service experiences designed to sharpen critical thinking and leadership skills. Honors students complete 12 hours of "extended" general education courses and are introduced to leadership theory, critical thinking, and argument analysis skills.

The Honors College Program is open to all recent high school graduates, freshmen and transfer students. To enroll in the Honors College, you need the following credentials:

- Graduate from the top 5% of your class
- 3.25 Cumulative GPA on a 4.0 scale
- ACT composite score 20 or better or SAT combined score 1200 or better (critical reading + math) for entering freshmen.

Sophomore students meeting program requirements will be eligible automatically upon application. All admission decisions will be made by committee. Application packets can be picked up daily from the Office of Admissions.

Admission to the Honors College began in August 2015 for the fall term.

Honors College Staff and Program Founders:

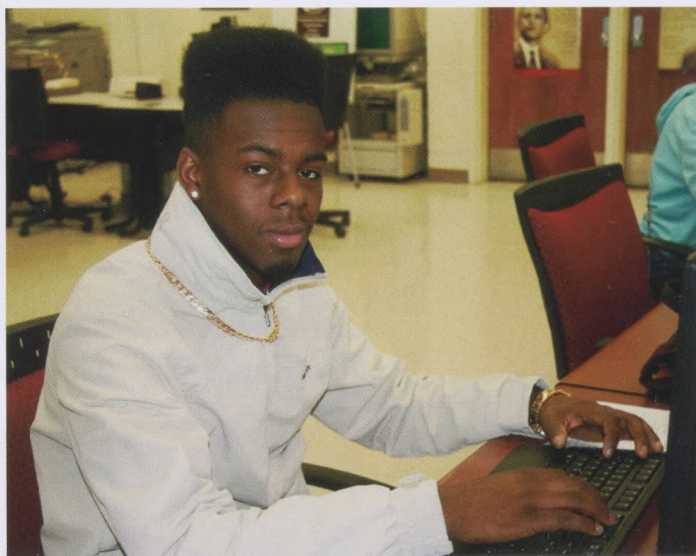

- Mr. Jeremy Pittman, Program Instructor/Coordinator/Co-Founder,
- Mrs. Rose Lockett, Assistant Coordinator/Co-Founder, and
- Mr. Willie Lockett, Co-Founder.

Graduation The largest-ever graduating class - 2015

"While change is inevitable, progress is optional"

While change is inevitable, progress is optional.

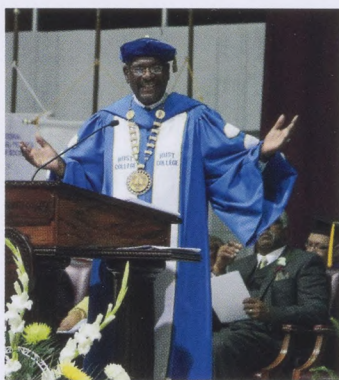

That was the message delivered to the largest-ever graduating class at Coahoma Community College.

"Either we change for change or we are consumed by change," said Rust College President David Beckley, the longest serving tenured senior college President in Mississippi, during his address for CCC's 63rd commencement ceremony.

"You've already accepted a change in your life so that you could be here today celebrating. ... You're graduating today and headed into the world to make a difference."

More than 4,000 friends and family packed CCC's Pinnacle Saturday morning to cheer and applaud the record class of more than 450 graduates.

Welcoming those in attendance was CCC 2015 Salutatorian La'Keedra Allison of Tutwiler, MS, who also used the opportunity to remind her classmates that graduation is both an end and a beginning.

"Time has already begun; don't stop here you all," said Allison.

"Continue to explore, go beyond what is expected of you and do the unexpected."

Class Valedictorian Mikyra Cherry of Cleveland, MS echoed a similar message before introducing Beckley as the commencement speaker.

"As I look out on my peers, I am reminded of quote instilled in me by one of my favorite instructors here at Coahoma Community College 'In order to succeed, we must not only act, but also dream; not only plan, but also believe.'"

Also honored during the ceremony were 17 "Golden Graduates", commemorating 50 years since their own graduation from CCC in 1965.

In addition to featuring the largest class, this was also the first year graduating veterans and active duty service members were honored in the ceremony, with 10 service men receiving special patriotic medallions.

Referring to the graduates as the new generation of leaders, Beckley reminded the Class of 2015 of their responsibility to use their knowledge and skills for the betterment of the world.

CCC's 2015 Humanities

Teacher Award

Regardless of where her professional career has taken her, Cynthia Williams-Roberson's first love has always been teaching.

"I have always known I would teach," said Roberson, who has taught in both the high school and community college level for more than a decade. "As the oldest child of six, I was the designated homework helper, and even today, I am still the designated homework helper for most of my nieces and nephews who live nearby ... I believe I was born to encourage, and teaching provides the opportunity to do so."

Because of her evident passion for the profession, Roberson has been selected as CCC's 2015 Mississippi Humanities Teacher Award.

Each year the Mississippi Humanities Council recognizes October's designation as Arts and Humanities Month by designating Humanities Teacher Awards to one faculty member at each college and university in the state. Roberson was selected as this year's honoree from CCC based on the recommendation of President Dr. Valmadge Towner and Dean of Academic Affairs Rolonda Brown.

"Mrs. Roberson has been an exemplary life-long learner as well as an exceptionally gifted educator," said Towner. "She has excelled in whatever capacity that she has served. I am most appreciative as to how she serves for the college in an unassuming yet profound manner. We are elated to have her represent CCC."

A program held in Roberson's honor was slated for 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 19, in the Gallery. During that time, Roberson made a professional presentation.

The title also carries a cash award as well as a complimentary ticket to the Mississippi Humanities Council Awards Banquet. There, Roberson will join other selected recipients from colleges and universities across the state for special recognition.

A native of Marks, MS, Roberson earned an Associate of Arts Degree from Coahoma Community College in 1998 and furthered her education at Delta State University where she earned both a bachelor's and master's degree in English and an Educational Specialist in Educational Leadership. In July 2009, Roberson joined the college full-time as the Director of Educational Outreach, and in July 2014, she became Assistant Director of Institutional Effectiveness.

Although she may no longer be in the classroom full-time, Roberson's passion for the students remains.

CCC Math and Science Chair Patricia Furdge is currently serving as the 2015-2016 president-elect of the prestigious Mississippi Association for Developmental Education (MADE) organization. It's the first time a CCC instructor has served in that capacity.

Furdge's duties and responsibilities include acting as the presiding officer of the association in the absence of the president. She will move up to serve as the MADE Conference Chair the following year.

The Mississippi Association for Developmental Education (MADE) is a state chapter of the National Association for Development Education (NADE). It was founded in January 1981 James Barber of Copiah-Lincoln Community College in Natchez called together a January 1981 James Barber of Copiah-Lincoln Community College in Natchez called together a group of developmental educators from across the state to form an organization modeled after the National Association for Developmental Education.

Over the years, MADE has become a driving force in colleges and institutions across the state. It insures that students receive an education that is based on their beginning capabilities and one that will take them as far as they can go.

Coahoma Community College crowned its Miss Coahoma 2016-2017 following the institution's first scholarship pageant as part of the Miss Mississippi Corporation. CCC freshman Cortise Brown of Jackson, MS snagged the coveted title following the historical pageant that included a swimsuit, talent, evening wear and onstage question competition.

Brown, who has never competed before, said she was initially a little hesitant about entering the competition.

"My support system was very reassuring," said Brown in an interview following the pageant hosted at the Pinnacle. "Everyone just kept encouraging me to do it, and I wanted to try something new."

In addition to the opportunity to represent CCC during the upcoming school term, Brown will advance to the preliminary competition for the Miss Mississippi Pageant, where she will have the chance to compete for a $10,000 scholarship.

"I'm loving my time here at Coahoma, and I'm grateful for the experiences and growth it has offered me, and I'm very excited to take on the role of Miss Coahoma 2016-2017."
